Director's Notes

As a child, my fondest memories of school (aside from recess) were the times my teachers would pull a book from the shelf and announce "Who's ready for a story?". Images of dragons, flying carpets, covered wagons, and marmalade-eating bears would come to life, stretching our imaginations and coloring our memories. Storytelling opens new worlds for us, teaches us lessons, expands our minds. As performers, we keep the art of storytelling alive by making these images breathe. Every image that is seen is the work of the storyteller on stage. They have developed these characters based on his/her own imaginations and worked together with the storytelling of Michael Bond to create a new world that they wish to present to you. We hope you enjoy it.

Acknowledgements

Many, many thanks to everyone who contributed to this production: to Will and Torrie who gave me this opportunity; to Tony, Mibs, and Claudia who helped me create it; to Rebecca, the Stage Manager, Mike, the Assistant Director, and the entire Paddington cast who created this show and made me laugh for six weeks straight. Also, thanks to my family, friends, and God who tolerated non-stop talk about the rare bear from Peru!

Bye Bye Birdie

Book by Michael Stewart
Music by Charles Strouse
Lyrics by Lee Adams

July 31 ~ August 10, 1997

Midweek Matinees August 5 and 7

Before the Beatles, there was Birdie (Conrad, that is). Join the residents of Sweet Apple, Ohio, as they rock n' roll the night away. From the crazed lament, "We Love You, Conrad", to the snarly song, "Kids", this show has been a true winner for years!
